

COLLEGIANS WERE BEATEN

Barre-Montpelier Won From Burlington

BY SCORE OF 13 TO FIVE

Visitors Made a Large Number of Errors and Were Not Able to Connect With Wherry With Any Success.

By a score of 13 to 5 Barre-Montpelier triumphed over the Burlington college ball players at the Inter-city park before a good sized crowd of fans who had come out to see the redoubtable Collins put them over for the collegians, but the fans were disappointed in this as Collins, having pitched the day before, did not show up in the box and a young pitcher, Melmerney, did the twirling. The mighty Collins would have had to strike out every man to have won Saturday's game in the face of the wild hitting work put up by Gardner, Collins and Patridge who made a failure of nearly everything that came their way and three errors apiece were chalked up to them.

Melmerney allowed only six hits, but his six bases on balls in the ten errors behind him were responsible for the result of the game. Wherry was in the box for the Twins and did all that was expected of him, allowing but five scattered hits and had been given clean support would have shut out the visitors easily. After the fifth inning Burlington was not allowed a hit and went out in the one, two three order. Sanders' two wild throws to first, Ball's wild throw to second, and Collins' and Clemm's muffs of flies is how the visitors got their five scores.

Gardner scored for the visitors in the first inning after rapping safe the first ball pitched, went to second on Collins' miff of Collins' fly after Collins and Hayes had fled out. Grow then rapped out a single to right and Gardner beat out the throw to the plate by a hair's breadth.

In the local half of this inning they went Burlington one score better. Clemm got a life on Collins' error in fumbling his ground hit. Harris attempted to sacrifice but beat out his hit. Collins then sacrificed the two to second and third. Murphy hit a slow grounder to Patridge who threw wild to the plate and Clemm scored. Harris got to third and Murphy went down to second on the first ball pitched. Fraser hit to Gardner who was not quick enough to get Harris at the plate but threw out Fraser at first. Murphy attempted to score on the play but was caught at the plate.

Three men faced Wherry in the second, Patridge flying out to Clemm, and Goode and Melmerney fanned the air. In the last half Melmerney started the trouble by passing Ball and Shea. Sanders hit to the pitcher who threw too late to second to catch Shea. With the bases then filled Wherry flashed the ball by Gardner into left and both Ball and Shea trotted home. Clemm did the unusual thing for him of fanning. Harris hit to Patridge who threw wide to first and in attempting to hang to his base Hayes dropped the ball and Wherry scored. Collins singled and Shea hit to Patridge who singled. Murphy hit to Patridge who made his second error and Harris scored. Fraser hit to Gardner who fell over the ball and Collins crossed the rubber. Ball then came up for the second time in the inning and ended the trouble by fanning.

The visitors got three tallies in the third as a result of two errors and two singles. Gardner opened with a single and Collins hit to Wherry who threw to second too late to get Gardner and Sanders threw wild to first, letting the two runners rest on second and third. Hayes rapped a single back of short and Gardner scored. Ball threw wild to second in an attempt to catch Hayes and Collins scored. Hayes reaching third, Collins fled out to Sanders and Grow hit to Sanders who threw him out at first. Hayes, thinking this made three out, started for the bench. Shea threw to Harris and Hayes came out of his "sun stroke" and beat out Harris' throw to first.

At the City Bakery!

Do not be surprised to see Cakes here so tempting that you marvel why anybody should bother with home baking. That is an ordinary occurrence here. Many a woman has found out that our Cakes are better than hers. We don't care how careful and particular you are, we are just as much if not more so, and we are baking all the time. If experience and practice count for anything, why shouldn't we bake better than you?

the plate. There was nothing more doing as Jones fled out to Fraser. Both teams scored once in the fourth. Melmerney tallying for Burlington from second and Clemm miff of Gardner's fly and Harris crossing the plate for the locals from third, while Hayes and Gardner were attempting to catch Murphy between the bases. Cotter and Murphy scored in the seventh on Collins and Gardner's errors, and in the eighth the locals got in three more runs, by Harris, Cotter and Murphy as a result of another balloon ascension by Gardner and Collins and Melmerney's two passes to first. MT. WASHINGTON STORM.

One of the Worst Ever Known in Mid-Summer.

Fabyans, N. H., July 29.—A gale with a maximum velocity of 120 miles an hour and with temperature hovering just above freezing was recorded at Summit, Mt. Washington, N. H., Saturday. The storm began to blow Friday noon with a 60-mile wind, rising to over 100 at midnight and attaining its climax of 120 miles early yesterday. At noon the velocity had decreased to 75, but had risen again last night to 95 and a heavy rain was falling. Altogether it made one of the worst storms ever known at Mt. Washington during mid-summer. No train was run up or down the mountain all day, and many guests were detained at the Summit house waiting for the storm to abate.

CENTURY OLD, CELEBRATES

Deacon Alpheus Haynes of Middletown Springs

GUEST OF WHOLE VILLAGE

In Now Quite Hearty and Strong and Enters Quite Spiritually in the Affairs of the Day.

Middletown Springs, July 29.—Alpheus Haynes of Middletown Springs, popularly known throughout the western part of the county as "Deacon Haynes," celebrated his 100th birthday today and there were few people in Middletown who did not participate in the celebration. It was a village affair arranged by the congregation of the Baptist church, of which he has been deacon 70 years, having a record probably unsurpassed in the county. The celebration included a dinner served on the village green after which there was speaking a band concert and literary exercises.

Among the speakers were Judge Roswell Buell, age 96 years, who told of the days when he and the deacon were boys and young men, and Merritt Ames of Glen Falls, N. Y., who was many years ago in a bible class taught by Mr. Haynes. It was one of the greatest events the village ever saw, and will be long remembered.

Deacon Haynes was born July 29, 1807, less than a mile from his present home, where he has lived about 60 years. With the exception of two years passed at Shoreham, he has lived all his life in the immediate vicinity of his present home. His parents, Hezekiah and Sibyl (Brown) Haynes, had ten children, of which the deacon was third, and is now the only survivor. The members of the family all had names typical of a century or more ago, Achsah, Aaron, Alpheus, Arns, Bachus, Sylvanus, Annis, Jonathan, Hezekiah, Joseph. Neither parents, sons nor daughters lived to any such remarkable age as the deacon has attained.

At 100 years Mr. Haynes is as active as most men at 60. He is able to go about the farm every day and occasionally goes to the garden or hay field to perform some slight duty. He is still able to read in a very bright light and takes considerable interest in current events.

At the age of 17 Mr. Haynes united with the Baptist church, of which he is now deacon and he has been a regular attendant ever since. His entire life has been passed as a farmer and although he has never been an office-seeker, he has seldom failed to vote at town meeting day and has cast his ballot for every president since Andrew Jackson. He is a strong Republican.

Miss Elizabeth M. Sunderland of Shoreham became the wife of Deacon Haynes in February, 1830. She died 25 years ago. They had one son, John Franklin Haynes, who passed away in 1901, age 68 years. There are no grandchildren.

The Haynes homestead is in one of the most picturesque spots in the Green Mountains. Situated in a beautiful valley it is surrounded by wooded hills which present a view hard to duplicate. The house is on an old turnpike and the centenarian remembers the time when almost every article of merchandise sold in the stores of Rutland was drawn past his house from Salem, N. Y., the nearest railroad station.

DEATH OF SENATOR PETTUS.

Aged Statesman from Alabama Succumbs to Apoplexy.

Hot Springs, N. C., July 29.—United States Senator Edmund W. Pettus of Alabama died at Hot Springs, at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Senator Pettus was stricken with apoplexy while seated at breakfast in a hotel at Hot Springs Friday morning and remained unconscious since. The attending physician Saturday held a consultation with a doctor from Asheville and the senator's case was pronounced hopeless. His granddaughter, Miss Bessie Roberts, was with him.

HUNT FOR RIPPER BY 8,000 POLICE

Terrified Parents in Berlin Are Keeping Their Children at Home.

Berlin, Germany, July 29.—The criminal who Friday stabbed five little girls on the streets of Berlin, was still at large Saturday. The theory that finds the greatest favor among medical men is that the man is an epileptic who probably has recovered his normal condition and is now without any recollection of what he did Friday—that his attitude toward these dreadful acts is that of a complete stranger. He will next be heard of when in another seizure he kills another child. The newspapers still publish warnings to parents, and in almost all sections of the city children Saturday were being kept in doors. After a conference of the heads of the police department held in the morning, all the policemen were at once ordered out on patrol duty. Between 7,000 and 8,000 guardians of the peace are thus doing patrol service. Five or six men were arrested during the night, but were released Saturday. The police have been supplied with many so-called clues to the criminal.

Plan to Kill Gen. Roedigan, Minister of War, Discovered.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—The police Saturday discovered a plot that had for its object the assassination of the Minister of War, Gen. Roedigan.

Several members of the military organizations of the social revolutionists have been taken into custody.

9 LIVES LOST IN STEAMER FIRE

On Cayuga Lake in New York State

The Victims Were All Women and Children Passengers—The Crew Worked Well, Others Not So Well.

Auburn, N. Y., July 29.—Nine persons lost their lives and many were injured when the steamboat Frontenac, carrying fifty passengers and a crew of twelve, was burned to the water's edge on Lake Cayuga Saturday afternoon.

Seven bodies have been recovered.

All the victims were children or women, and nearly all were drowned after succumbing in the lake in a frenzied attempt to escape.

One child certainly was burned to death.

The steamer Frontenac, an old double-deck craft, which has plied between Ithaca and Cayuga on Lake Cayuga for 25 years, left the former place Saturday afternoon for the upper lake points, carrying 50 passengers and a crew of 12.

In mid-lake fire broke out in the engine room, and fanned by a stiff northeast wind, spread quickly to the aft section. The crew of 12 men behaved splendidly, fighting the flames at first, but seeing that nothing could save the boat turned all their attention to the passengers.

Life preservers were put on everyone who could be found in the brief time, but in spite of their efforts nine women and children perished. Captain Brown directed the work of the crew and was the last to leave the burning boat.

In strong contrast to the cool bravery of the crew was the panic, and in some instances cowardice, of many of the men among the passengers. In their efforts to save themselves they seriously impeded the work of the crew and endangered the lives of everyone on the steamer.

When the flames were first discovered in mid-lake Captain Brown turned the bow of his little steamer toward the shore and set his crew to work to subdue the flames if possible and to calm the passengers and see that they got life preservers.

The flames made rapid headway, however, and there was great excitement among the passengers as they were driven to the bow of the boat.

It is not known just when or just how all the women and children were thrown into the water. It is thought, however, that they became panic-stricken and either jumped into the water as the boat neared the shore, or were forced overboard in the rush to get into the boats that put off from shore. The bodies were recovered near shore.

There were many individual acts of heroism during the mad race of the steamer for the shore. The engines which were audibly driven to their utmost, which was painfully slow, as the flames spread to the upper works fanned by the wind.

Captain Brown directed his little crew and they worked heroically to calm the passengers, of whom the majority were women, and to show them how to fasten the life preservers.

A pathetic incident followed the bringing ashore of the body of Miss Marietta Sullivan of Syracuse. She was on her way home and had planned to meet her fiancé at Cayuga, whence they were to proceed together. When her fiancé learned of the accident to the Frontenac he hurried to the scene, only to find the body of Miss Sullivan lying on the shore of the lake.

THREE KILLED OUTRIGHT.

By Wreck of Excursion Train on the Allegheny and Western.

Butler, Pa., July 29.—Three persons were killed outright and a score or more others were injured Saturday in the wreck of an excursion train at Isle station, about 10 miles from Butler on the Allegheny and Western branch of the Bessemer and Lake Erie system.

The wreck is said to have been caused by a rail breaking beneath an engine drawing a heavy train of picnicers who were employees of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh road on their way from Dubois to New Castle. There were 400 or 500 persons on the train, and the scene of the wreck is in a marshy meadow nine miles north of Butler. A train with seven physicians started for the wreck. It is reported at Butler that when the rail broke the engine plowed its way into a ditch and turned backward, and the baggage car with one passenger coach was piled on top of it.

DEATH AT WEDDING.

One of Party Run Down by Auto and Killed.

Chatham, Mass., July 29.—Death spoiled a merry wedding party at East Dennis Saturday afternoon, when Miss Helen Chapman became the wife of Mr. F. E. Holland, a Boston lawyer.

Laban Sears of Dennis, who was to drive the bride and groom to the railroad station, was standing in the road way in front of the house about 2 p. m., when he was run down by an automobile and received injuries which caused his death in a few moments.
